klrcAYPG
YOUNG PRACTITIONERS GROUP

3 NOV 2017
3PM - 5PM
@KLRCA

Study in the US: Why and How?

The purpose of this event is to expose all participants about the available opportunities of studying in the US, opportunities of studying in the US, opportunities to settle down and how to gain valuable scholarships from top universities in the US.

To register, please email your details to events@klrca.org

ABOUT

The United States possess one of the world's finest university systems, with exceptional and outstanding programs in essentially all fields, in particular law. Studying law in the US, however, requires careful consideration. This is including but not limited to; which law school should you apply to; what are the requirements for your application; and how do you overcome your financial needs while studying in the US.

The seminar will begin with a discussion regarding opportunities in arbitration for law students and graduates. Participants will then be informed about the US educational system and possible scholarship options in the US. The talk will be concluded with information about post-graduate degree programs in Alternative Resolution in the US.

This talk is beneficial to all law students, graduates and even young practitioners who are considering to pursue higher education in the US.

2.30pm	Registration
3.00pm - 3.10pm	Opening Speech by Smrithi Ramesh, Assistant Director of KLRCA
3.10pm - 3.30pm	YPG Panel Discussion: Opportunities in Arbitration for the law school students and graduates
3.30pm - 3.50pm	Educational System in the US - Ms. Lindsay Galeste, Malaysian-American Commission on Educational Exchange (MACEE), EducationUSA Adviser
3.50pm - 4.10pm	Scholarship Options in the US - Ms. Kalis Subramaniam, Malaysian-American Commission on Educational Exchange (MACEE), Fulbright Program Officer
4.10pm - 4.40pm	Post-Graduate Degrees in ADR in the US - Justin Swinsick, Director of Graduate Admissions at Georgetown University Law Center
4.40pm - 5.00pm	Q&A Session with Speakers
5.00pm onwards	Networking Reception

klrcAYPG
YOUNG PRACTITIONERS GROUP