What it takes for ASEAN to achieve full economic integration?

The ASEAN Economic Integration Forum 2016, the second in the series, seeks to critically analyse the prospects and challenges of economic integration among ASEAN Member States. The AEIF will discuss issues of concerns to the main stakeholders of ASEAN Integration, i.e. entrepreneurs and businesses, investors, policy makers and the people of ASEAN, taking into account the ASEAN Community 2025 Blueprint: Forging Ahead Together.

Important topics of discussion:

- ASEAN as a Model for Regional Integration Post Brexit?
- ASEAN and the Ocean
- ASEAN in the Global Context

The AEIF 2016 is co-organised by the Institute of Malaysian and International Studies (IKMAS), Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia together with St. Antony's College,University of Oxford and World Trade Institute (WTI), University of Bern, Switzerland. This is the second event in the series of the AEIF where the first session was held at St. Antony's College, University of Oxford in November 2015.
