FIRE ONBOARD!

Fires on board vessels often have catastrophic impact on life, property, and the environment. What causes these fires and how can they be prevented? In the event of a fire, what actions need to be taken by parties to preserve evidence and protect their rights?

This event brings together two experts to answer these burning questions, and to share their invaluable experience in handling fire incidents from a legal, technical and insurance perspective.

Speaker David Myers

Director of Fire Response and Investigation
Brookes Bell, Singapore

Dave Myers is a Science graduate with a Master's degree in Fire Investigation from Anglia Ruskin University, Cambridge. He joined Brookes Bell in January 2013. Prior to joining Brookes Bell, Dave worked within the Fire Service for 19 years, much of this time in a Fire Investigation capacity. He then worked as an independent Forensic Fire Investigation Consultant. Dave has worked on many large-scale investigations in a variety of land and marine environments often coordinating a multi-agency response in an advisory or command and control capacity. He has worked almost exclusively on maritime incidents for the past six years. Dave has also provided advice, training and support for Fire, Police and Government Departments across Europe.

Dave has worked on many investigations involving civil claims and criminal prosecutions, he has experience of giving evidence as an expert witness in Arbitration, Coroners and Crown Courts.

Speaker Iain Anderson

Partner
Reynolds Porter Chamberlain LLP

A marine specialist, Iain Anderson centres his practice on every type of related insurance problem that can arise.

Hull, cargo, war, construction, loss of hire- these are all marine insurance problems that regularly crop up for those in the business. Iain, who started his career as a marine claims adjuster in London, understands and can help. And when a casualty strikes, Iain has extensive experience acting on collisions, groundings, and salvage.

He also focuses a part of his practice on offshore energy risks, including WELCAR, COW, OEE/EED problems - both coverage and subrogation. In the PRI and trade credit sector he works with the Asia market to assist in coverage and recovery issues and to help the market raise its regional profile.

Moderator Trishelea A Sandosam

Trishelea is a Senior Associate with Skrine. Her focus is in the field of maritime and shipping. She holds a Masters degree in maritime law from University College London and was awarded the Chevening Scholarship by the UK Foreign & Commonwealth Office.

She currently serves as Secretary of the International Malaysian Society of Maritime Law.
