

RESOLVING CROSS-BORDER DISPUTES IN VIETNAM AND MALAYSIA: STRATEGIES AND ADR MECHANISMS

The increasing growth of cross-border trade and investment between Vietnam and Malaysia driven by economic integration and bilateral agreements makes effective dispute resolution a necessity. With disputes increasingly marked by jurisdictional complexity and cultural intricacies, effective ADR mechanisms are critical for timely and cost-efficient resolutions.

This session offers timely insights into navigating these challenges, leveraging the expertise of regional legal practitioners and the role of arbitral institutions in ensuring a continued economic partnership between Malaysia and Vietnam.
